

I caught a bit of Lake Ontario
In the spring breeze, this evening,
As I stood and waited at the bus stop
In Mt. Laurel, NJ.

On the breeze came
Summer nights
Waiting with the boat,
As my father fetched the trailer.
And the heat of the day settled
Now on this warm lake,
With its baked seaweed
Lapping to the rocks of the shore.